THE ART OF BATHING

For centuries, bathing has been both a ritual and a refuge, valued not only for cleanliness but for its restorative pleasures. From the communal bathhouses of ancient Rome to the refined soaking traditions of the orient, bathing has long offered moments of calm, reflection, and renewal. Warm water soothes the body, eases tension, and encourages a slower pace, transforming a daily routine into an indulgent experience. Over time, the bath has evolved from a functional necessity into a symbol of comfort and wellbeing, where design, material, and atmosphere combine to create a deeply personal space—one dedicated to relaxation, balance, and quiet enjoyment.

Barrie Cutchie is a renowned bathroom industry professional with decades of expertise across manufacturing, design, and product development. In the late 1970s, he founded the prestigious company BC SANITAN, establishing an early reputation for quality and innovation. He later started Imperial Bathrooms in 1988, before going on to form BC Designs, where his vision for design-led, high-quality bathroom solutions has continued to shape the industry. Barrie is recognised for his strong technical knowledge, collaborative working style, and long-standing commitment to delivering exceptional bathroom products for both residential and commercial environments.

Now taking a leading role in the development of a new bath range under the Vincent Alexander brand, Barrie moves forward once again, bringing another beautifully crafted and design-led collection to the market.

The Vincent Alexander Bath Collection represents a refined balance of timeless design, technical expertise, and contemporary craftsmanship. Developed under the direction of Barrie Cutchie, the range reflects decades of experience within the bathroom industry, bringing together elegant form, considered proportions, and enduring quality.

Each bath in the collection is manufactured using Acrilion™, a high-quality acrylic material selected for its exceptional strength, colour stability, and smooth, luxurious finish. Renowned for its durability and excellent heat-retention properties, Acrilion® enhances both comfort and longevity, ensuring each bath maintains its appearance and performance over time.

Designed to complement both classic and modern interiors, the Vincent Alexander range offers versatility across residential and commercial environments. Careful attention to detail, material integrity, and user comfort underpins every design, delivering products that combine visual sophistication with reliable, long-term performance.

Drawing on a deep understanding of manufacturing processes and market demands, the Vincent Alexander Bath Collection meets the expectations of designers, specifiers, and homeowners alike, resulting in a beautifully crafted range that reflects a commitment to quality, craftsmanship, and design excellence.
